CAPITOL HILL CARPOOL PROGRAM FORMED

The Library staff is invited to join a computerized carpool locator program for Congressional employees and others working on Capitol Hill. This U.S. Congress Congressional Carpool Program is administered by the Committee on House Administration and the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration and replaces the Library's carpool location system.

Carpool Enrollment Forms, keyed to grid maps for pinpointing home locations, are available from the Employee Relations Office, Room G-112. Participants whose forms meet the first input deadline of January 28 will receive a computer matching list of co-workers who live near them and work similar hours. Participants may then form carpools by contacting those on the list; participants may change or cancel their participation at any time. Staff members needing further information may call extension 6361.

An extra rush hour bus service has been added which now stops at the Main Building on 1st Street and at the S.W. Mall and Union Station. This mini-bus shuttle service is experimental and its usefulness will be evaluated in early April.

A new Metrobus map, printed on a single heavy 24- by 36-inch paper and showing all bus routes, is available upon request from the Metro Office of Community Services, 950 South L'Enfant Plaza, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20024. An example of this map is on display at the Information Counter in the lobby of the Main Building. A 72-page atlas for $1, containing maps of every route in complete detail, is available from the Office of Marketing at L'Enfant Plaza. The Office of Marketing can also provide time schedules of individual routes.

COPYRIGHT COUNSEL RETIRED

Abe A. Goldman, General Counsel of the Copyright Office, retired from the Library on December 30 after 37 years of Federal service.

Born in Indiana, Mr. Goldman attended the University of Chicago where he earned Ph. B. and J.D. degrees. After receiving his law degree, he became a member of the Indiana and Illinois bars and was in private practice for several years. During this period he also taught courses in commercial law and government at the People's Junior College in Chicago. He began his Federal career in 1935 as an attorney in the Farm Credit Administration, where he was eventually responsible for all legal work of the Production Credit Division and the Regional Farm Credit Administration. He resigned in 1950 to become an executive in private industry.

Mr. Goldman joined the staff of the Library in 1952 as a Legal Adviser in the Copyright Office. His legal ability, reliability, and capacity to work harmoniously with others led to his promotion to Chief of Research, and subsequently to General Counsel. From March to November 1973, Mr. Goldman served as Acting Register of Copyrights.

During his career in the Copyright Office, Mr. Goldman was editor of the widely acclaimed Copyright Revision Studies and played a principal role in the program for revision of the copyright law. He is the author of numerous articles on copyright and related subjects and has represented the Copyright Office at national and international meetings on copyright matters. Currently he is serving as a trustee of the Copyright Society of the United States.

His expertise in copyright law and his personal qualities will be greatly missed by the staff of the Library of Congress and the Copyright Office. In retirement Mr. Goldman will continue to contribute to the development of the copyright law through consultative work and research.

CONTEMPORARY CHAMBER ENSEMBLE TO APPEAR ON FEBRUARY 8

On Friday evening February 8, the Gertrude Clarke Whittall Foundation in the Library of Congress will sponsor a concert of instrumental contemporary chamber music by the Contemporary Chamber Ensemble under the direction of Arthur Weisberg. Their program will include In Aeternum by Joseph Schwantner; Voyage by Iain Hamilton; Tjao-houen by Tona Scherchen; and Double Concerto for Harpsichord and Piano by Elliot Carter.

The concert will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library. Tickets will be distributed by Patrick Hayes, 1300 G St., N.W., beginning at 8:30 a.m., on Monday, February 4. A service charge of 25 cents will be placed on each ticket, and only two tickets are distributed to an individual. Telephone reservations may be made on Monday morning by calling 393-4463. Mail orders are not accepted.

This concert will be broadcast live and in its entirety by Station WETA-FM, and later made available to stations in other cities through the Katie and Walter Louchheim Fund in the Library of Congress.

U.S. COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES DEPICTED IN LIBRARY EXHIBIT

An exhibit on "19th-Century Views of American Colleges and Universities," to include about 30 lithographs and engravings, ranging in date from the 1820's to the 1880's and depicting colleges and universities in the east and midwest, will go on display in the Library of Congress on February 15. Included among the schools to be shown are Antioch, Bethany, Bowdoin, Vassar, Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Otterbein, Wilberforce, and Wooster, and the universities of Chicago, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

Several of the prints depict schools still in existence, although their names have changed. These include the "University of Lewisburg" (Bucknell), "Madison University" (Colgate), and "Waterville College" (Colby). Some of the illustrations (Holy Cross, Villanova, and Yale) appear on 19th-century music covers. There is also a group of small engravings showing Amherst, Georgetown (D.C.), Pennsylvania, Ripon, Virginia, and West Point.

The exhibit will remain on view in the north and northeast corridors of the Ground Floor through June 30.

BRAZILIAN ARTIST GIVES PRINTS TO LC

José Júlio Calasans Neto, one of the best-known artists of Brazil, came to the Library of Congress on January 18. He presented to the Library the original prints of his illustrations for the most recent novel of Jorge Amado, Teresa Batista Cansade de Guerra, as well as a group of prints about whales from a recent album with text by Vinicius de Moraes.

Mr. Calasans, who was at the start of an extended tour of the United States under the auspices of the Department of State, was accompanied by his wife, an elementary school teacher, by Caroline Millett and Ray Fleming of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, Department of State, and by Frances F. Switt and Helen Sebsow of the U.S. Information Service.

The presentation of Mr. Calasans' works took place in the Hispanic Society Room with Paul L. Berry, Director of the Reference Department, accepting the gifts on behalf of the Library. Other Library staff members present included Mary Ellis Kahler, Chief of the Latin American, Portuguese and Spanish Division; Alan Fern, Chief of the Prints and Photographs Division, and Nathan Einhorn, Chief of the Exchange and Gift Division.

STAFF NEWS

DEATH OF A FORMER STAFF MEMBER

John Kerr Rose, a noted scholar in the field of conservation and geography, and a Senior Specialist in that field at the Library for 18 years, died January 24 at his home in southeast Washington, D.C. He had had frequent medical care for a heart condition since his retirement from the Library in June, 1973. He was 68 years old.

Mr. Rose, born in Tazewell County, Ill. in 1905, enjoyed a career in Government that spanned 37 years, nearly 27 years of which were at the Library. He graduated from Indiana University in 1928 with a Phi Beta Kappa key, received a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1931, a doctoral degree in 1935 from the University of Chicago, and a law degree from George Washington University in 1945. He served as a post-doctoral research fellow at the Social Science Research Council from 1935 to 1936.

Mr. Rose first came to Government in June, 1936, as a research technician and economic analyst for the Rural Electrification Administration. He later worked for the Board of Economic Warfare, the Foreign Economic Administration, and the Office of International Trade of the U.S. Department of Commerce. In addition, he served with the State Department Economic Mission to Korea and Japan and for a time in 1964 as guest of the parliaments of West Germany, Denmark, and Sweden.

Mr. Rose came to the Library in 1946 as a Consultant Geographer, later served as an Analyst Geographer, and was appointed Senior Specialist in 1955.

His articles frequently appeared in books, periodicals, and Congressional documents, the Encyclopedia Britannica, and in professional journals in the fields of agriculture and conservation.

Mr. Rose held bar memberships in the District of Columbia and Illinois and was an active member of numerous professional geographic, economic, and scientific organizations, and was a member of the U.S. Committee for the International Geographical Union.

Mr. Rose was a familiar and sought-after consultant to various Congressional Committees during his tenure at the Library and his work and reputation prompted numerous letters of satisfaction from a long list of Congressional members and staff.

Burial will be on Mr. Rose's farmland in Illinois.

AWARD

Philip Lambros, Cataloger in Greek and Slavic materials in the Subject Cataloging Division, was presented a 20-year Federal Service Award pin on January 7. Before entering Government service, Mr. Lambros received a bachelor's degree in government from George Washington University and a master's degree in history from the University of Chicago. He also did postgraduate work in East European history and library science and served over four years in the armed forces.

He first joined the staff of the Library of Congress in 1958 as a Translator-Cataloger for the Monthly Index of Russian Accessions. In November 1962 he transferred to his present assignment with the Subject Cataloging Division.

STAFF ACTIVITIES

Ranjan Borra of the Southern Asia Section, Orientalia Division, has published two poems, "Reassurance" and "The Sentinel," in an anthology entitled New Voices in American Poetry, 1973.

Alan Fern, Chief of the Prints and Photographs Division, gave an informal illustrated talk on the print and photograph collections of the Library of Congress to the Arts Club of Washington, on January 10. During the discussion period that followed, several members of the Club recalled the colorful exploits of the late Frances Benjamin Johnston, a long time resident of the Club, and one of the Division's important donors.

Eilene Galloway, Senior Specialist in International Relations, Foreign Affairs Division, Congressional Research Service, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Capitol Hill Chapter of The Federal Bar Association on January 15 at the Rayburn House Office Building. She spoke on the accomplishments of the 24th Congress of the International Astronautical Federation and the International Institute of Space Law whose meetings were held in Baku, Azerbaijan, USSR, in October 1973. Mrs. Galloway was recently voted a member of the Board of Trustees of the Theodore von Karman Memorial Foundation, Inc. of Washington, D.C.

Mary Jane Gibson, Assistant Head of the Bibliography and Reference Correspondence Section of the General Reference and Bibliography Division, is the compiler of "United States of America National Bibliographical and Abstracting Services and Related Activities in 1972," which has just appeared in the winter 1973 issue of RQ, the official quarterly journal of the Reference and Adult Services Division of the American Library Association.

The survey continues the series begun in 1961 by Mrs. Helen D. Jones at the request of the then Reference Services Division. It represents an expansion of a report for 1972 submitted to the United Nations Education and Science Committee in response to an annual questionnaire.

Among the subjects discussed are national institutions, professional associations, interlibrary cooperation, and mechanization. Selected titles are included for such diverse topics as national bibliography,

Wearing the new basketball uniforms purchased by the Welfare and Recreation Association are (front l-r) Carl Butler (5), Maurice Walker (14), James Glover (15), Willie Canady (4), Willie Melson (coach), (back l-r) Bill Taylor (13), Lamont Griggs (10), Michael Moore (20), and Frederick Samuels (12). Absent from the picture are Robert Brown (23), Thomas Payne (3), and Harvey Samuels (22).

LC BASKETBALL TEAM 4 AND 2 WITH MONTH TO GO

The Library of Congress Men's Basketball Team is doing remarkably well considering the lack of opportunity to practice and the loss of a key player after the first game. Its record of four wins and two losses with four more games to be played places the team in a good playoff position.

The first game was won by the LC Players with a come-from-behind 48 to 39 victory over Georgetown Hospital. At the second game the team suffered their first loss at the hands of the Bureau of National Affairs team with a tough 43 to 41 score on December 14. In the return game with the Bureau on January 18, the LC team bounced back with a winning score of 42 to 31.

The LC Players grabbed another victory with a win over the Veterans Administration team, 45 to 44, but faced their second loss when they played the SEC Trotters. An additional win of 41 to 35 against the Bureau of Engraving and Printing team makes the LC Players a threat to the top teams in the standings.

The team's leading scorers and rebounders have been Robert Brown, Carl Butler, Willie Canady, and Maurice Walker, according to the team's coach, Willie L. Melson. Employees can support the LC Players by attending the remaining games on Friday evenings, on February 1 at 7 p.m., February 8 at 8 p.m., and February 15 at 7 p.m., in the Western High School Men's Gym, 35th and R Sts., N.W.

The league in the D.C. Department of Recreation is very strong and has some outstanding players; therefore, according to coach Melson, the championship will be difficult to obtain.

The Wilson Papers Index is the 20th publication in the Presidents' Papers Series and is the third of three multi-volume indexes to 20th-century Presidential collections. An item index to the writers and recipients of letters and other documents in the collection, it includes approximately 300,000 entries for papers in 19 series as a guide to the use of the 540-reel microfilm edition of the papers.

The index demonstrates the richness of the collection for a study of Wilson's academic life as well as his public career by showing the frequency of his correspondence with such educators as Charles W. Eliot, David Starr Jordan, and Frederick Jackson Turner, and listing the manuscripts of his books, public and academic lectures, and notes as a student and as a teacher at Bryn Mawr, Wesleyan, and Princeton.

Full documentation of Wilson's Presidential administrations is illustrated by the 4,042 entries for William Jennings Bryan, 1,697 for Edward House, and 4,136 for William G. McAdoo. Paris Peace Conference minutes and correspondence are indexed by names of correspondents with 644 entries for Georges Clemenceau, and by topics discussed in executive sessions. The hundreds of Wilson speeches appear under his name with a subheading for the location, audience, or subject of each speech.

NEWS IN THE LIBRARY WORLD

British Publishers Announce Delays

English publishers, booksellers, and the Post Office have been included in energy-conserving measures that have put certain sectors of British industry on a three-day work week, and as a result delivery of book orders will be delayed. Booksellers Edw. G. Allen & Son, Ltd. have announced that the company intends to continue a five-day week on a shift basis in order to maintain service as usual, and hopes that any delays will be minimal.

IIA National Meeting Scheduled for March

The sixth national meeting of the Information Industry Association will be held in Washington, D.C., on March 18-21. The sessions of the meeting will develop the theme "Information—By and For People."

A major innovation and feature of the meeting will be the Information Resources Exposition which will feature exhibits and demonstrations of the latest, state-of-the-art information products, services, systems, and technologies. Librarians interested in information resources and information tools essential to the performance of their daily work are invited to attend the meetings. For further information contact Paul G. Zurkowski, Information Industry Association, 4720 Montgomery Lane, Bethesda, Md. 20014.

Automated System Set for New Jersey

Captain Library Services, a newly formed nonprofit educational corporation in New Brunswick, N.J., has developed a centralized computer operation to order, receive, process, and catalog books for the academic libraries of New Jersey.

The outgrowth of three years of cooperative effort by Rutgers University, the eight State colleges, and the New Jersey Department of Higher Education, the program as it matures should provide better service to library patrons and increased efficiency in library operations, according to Jay K. Lucker, Associate University Librarian at Princeton University, who heads the board of the new corporation.

The libraries on the various Rutgers campuses and Stockton State and William Paterson Colleges will be serviced initially by Captain (Computer-Aided Processing and Technical Access Information Network). Other units of the State system are expected to join in the future. Funded by the State Department of Higher Education, the program was developed by IBM in cooperation with Rutgers and has been in operation on the Rutgers campuses since last spring. When a member library wants to order a book, it processes an order request through a computer hookup with Rutgers' Alexander Library. The system then orders the book from the publisher, encumbers the funds, receives, catalogs, and processes the book, and returns it to the ordering library ready for shelving, together with a set of catalog cards.

Library Appointments Announced

Recent library appointments have been announced in Canada, England, and Wales.

At the National Library in Ottawa, Peter Steckl, formerly Special Assistant to the National Librarian, has been appointed Government Libraries Liaison Officer. Jean Higginson, formerly Chief of the Serials Division, Reference Branch, will replace Mr. Steckl as Special Assistant.

Other appointments include Rudolph J. Penner as Coordinator for Union Catalogues, Reference Branch; William Lloyd Newman as Head, Data Processing Section, Systems Development Division, Research and Planning Branch; Marie-Flora Zielinska, Chief of Multicultural Programme; Gilles Bergevin, Chief of the Public Relations Office; Claude Le Moine, Chief of the Reference and Circulation Division, Reference Branch; Myra Clowes, Chief of the Serials Division, Reference Branch; Jules Larivière, Head of the Canadian Official Publications Section, Official Publications Division, Reference Branch; and Anne Gray, Head of International Exchanges, Resources Rationalization and Selection Division, Collections Development Branch.

The British Library has appointed Denys Parsons Press Officer. Mr. Parsons has been Press Officer for the last eight years with the National Research Development Corporation. He has held a British Museum Reading Room ticket for nearly 30 years and, as a regular user of the Library, he is familiar with some of the problems of both readers and staff.

A. W. McClellan, Research Assistant in the College of Librarianship Wales, has been elected a Fellow of the Library Association in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the literature of librarianship over some 25 years. Mr. McClellan was formerly Chief Librarian in Tottenham and joined the staff of CLW in 1969.

AASLH Awarded Humanities Grant

The National Endowment for the Humanities has made a grant of $240,568 to the American Association for State and Local History, Nashville, Tenn., to support a project to prepare for publication a series of popular histories of each of the States and the District of Columbia in celebration of the American Bicentennial. Each book will be an "interpretive essay" characterizing the people of a State historically, and will be written by a single author who has first-hand knowledge of his State. Authors for the project are being chosen by AASLH through consultation with a distinguished advisory committee chaired by James Morton Smith, Director of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin.

Warren to Deliver Jefferson Lecture

Robert Penn Warren, 1944-45 Consultant in Poetry to the Library of Congress, has been chosen to deliver the Jefferson Lecture in the Humanities this year. The lectureship, which carries a stipend of $10,000, was created by the National Endowment for the Humanities in 1971. Mr. Warren, who is the only person to win the Pulitzer Prize for both fiction and poetry, will deliver the lecture in April.

Courses, Programs, and Workshops Announced

Case Western Reserve University has instituted two new programs in library science. The first is a specialized curriculum in Health Sciences Librarianship designed to meet the need for health sciences communications specialists, and the second is a double master's degree in library science and operations research.

The Health Sciences Librarianship Program, organized in close cooperation with the Cleveland Health Sciences Library and the School of Medicine, provides an integrated sequence of specialized courses within the Library School's one-year Master of Science in Library Science curriculum, providing training in both traditional and automated methods of library science within the context of the health sciences. Comprehensive work-study arrangements have been developed to provide both financial support and library experience to students in the program.

In response to the need for improved library management, the University's School of Library Science and Department of Operations Research have combined their resources to offer a double master's degree in both disciplines. The curriculum draws together courses in information sources and services, bibliographic organization and control, and information retrieval systems, with offerings in inventory theory, linear programming, computer simulation, probability theory, and stochastic processes.

Inquiries concerning either program should be addressed to the Dean, School of Library Science, Case Western Reserve University, University Circle, Cleveland, Ohio 44106.

Catholic University, Washington, D.C., began offering in January a post-master's program in library science. Designed as part of C.U.'s Continuing Professional Development Programs, the courses include 24 credits beyond the M.L.S. degree and several noncredit workshops, special courses, and institutes. Students in the program will be eligible for an advanced certificate in library science. Registration for the program will be handled by C.U.'s Office of Continuing Education, McMahon Hall, Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. 20017, (202) 635-5600.

The Center for the Advancement of Library-Information Science of the Graduate School and University Center, City University of New York, will offer instruction in seven subject areas for beginning and intermediate students and an Information Laboratory for advanced students during the coming spring semester. To obtain a Certificate of Professional Development in Library-Information Science, students must complete the equivalent of eight semester-length courses (summer sessions are considered half-length) plus an Information Laboratory.

Additional information and registration forms may be obtained from Vivian S. Sessions, Director, Center for the Advancement of Library-Information Science, Graduate School and University Center, the City University of New York, 33 West 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10036, (212) 790-4413.

The Civil Service Commission ADP Management Training Center will be conducting two library automation courses open to all Federal, State, and public library personnel. The workshop on the automation of cataloging is scheduled for February 25-27, and the survey course, Equipment for Information Processing, on March 26-28. Nominations for both courses will be accepted up to the beginning of the classes.

For additional information or to place nominations by phone, interested persons should call the ADP Management Training Center at (202) 632-5650.

Drexel University has announced a program of study leading to the doctorate in library and information science inaugurated during this academic year. The areas of study to be covered in the initial offering are Information Resources Management and Administration, Communication of Scientific and Technical Information, and Information Systems Design and Evaluation. The principal emphasis of the doctoral program will be on research with policy or technical applications to the library and information fields. Applications are now being accepted for the fall term; inquiries should be sent to Chairman, Doctoral Committee, Graduate School of Library Science, Drexel University, Philadelphia, Pa. 19104.

The International Graduate Summer School started last year and sponsored jointly by the College of Librarianship Wales and the Graduate School of Library and Information Sciences, University of Pittsburgh, will by offered again this year from July 1 through August 24 at the College in Aberystwyth, Wales. The purpose of IGSS is to provide education and training in various professional subjects pertinent to modern librarianship on an international scale. Courses will be offered to both students and professional librarians wishing to enlarge their knowledge or update their professional competence in a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

Classes will meet throughout the week and all instruction is in English. Courses carry graduate academic credits which are acceptable toward professional qualifications in major training institutions throughout the world.

Applications for admission accompanied by a deposit of $50 (refundable if the application is not accepted) should reach the College by March 12. They should be addressed to the Director, IGSS 1974, College of Librarianship Wales, Aberystwyth SY23 3AS Wales, Great Britain.

The Pratt Institute Graduate School of Library and Information Science has announced courses to be offered during the spring semester in the Advanced Certificate Program specializing in urban librarianship and information science. The post-master's program was inaugurated last fall.

The courses this spring include Management Techniques and Procedures, Issues of Community Change and Development, Information Networks, and Urban Librarianship.

Further information on the program is available from the Office of the Dean, Pratt Institute Graduate School of Library and Information Science, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11205.

St. John's University Department of Library Science is offering a workshop during the spring semester designed to be an introduction to audiovisual work in libraries and media centers. The workshop will be held every Saturday in March (March 2, 9, 16, 23, 30) from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will be taught by Robert M. Vincent, Director of Libraries and Instructional Materials Center, Sewanhaka Central High School District, Franklin Square, N.Y. The fee is $80, and applications should be directed to Mohammed M. Aman, Chairman, Department of Library Science, St.

John's University, Jamaica, N.Y. 11439, tel. (212) 969-8000, ext. 209; the application deadline is February 25.

The Graduate School of Library Studies of the University of Hawaii at Manoa will offer a summer session, July 8 to August 16, as part of the specialization, "The Information Industry in Asia: Librarianship in the Information Transfer Process." The specialization is designed primarily for library studies students currently enrolled and for post-graduate students with M.L.S. degrees and is intended to foster understanding of the information industry as it is affected by its environment, to appraise the trade and national bibliographic activities in Asian countries, and to improve Asian resource acquisition programs in American libraries.

Since the program is made possible by a grant from the U.S. Office of Education under the National Defense Education Act, no scholarships or fellowships are available. Three bibliographic research assistants will be selected on May 1, however, from among those applying for admission to the summer session. Applications should be received by April 1. For further information write to Dean Robert D. Stevens, Graduate School of Library Studies, Sinclair Library, 2425 Campus Rd., University of Hawaii at Manoa, Honolulu, Hawaii 96822.

New Publications

The Danish Royal Library has published a 40-page booklet entitled Catalogue and Scholarship: D. G. Moldenhawer's Catalogue in The Royal Library of Copenhagen, by Povl Johs. Jensen. The pamphlet, which may be purchased for Dkr. 16, is a translation of a paper published in The Royal Library's annual Fund og Forskning (Finds and Research in the Collections of the Royal Library), Vol. 7 (1960).

Fund og Forskning i det Kongelige Biblioteks Samlinger, 1973, is the 20th annual volume of this series, a scholarly publication that draws upon the holdings of the Royal Library. Four articles in Danish, with English summaries, are concerned with The Library Hall of Frederick III and its Architect, who completed it just 300 years ago, Historical Censorship in Denmark, Anatomical Illustrations of Thomas Bartholin's Publications, 1641-1661, and Royal Publications 1655-74 from the Printing Office of the Brothers Gøde, and an article in English, with Danish summary, deals with Kierkegaard's Diary of a Seducer and its use and abuse in international print. Copies of this publication are available as separates (Dkr. 44) and by subscription (Dkr. 38); inquiries should be addressed to The Royal Library, Christians Brygge 8, DK-1219 Kobenhavn K, Denmark.

Scarecrow Press has published a Guide to Special Collections, University of California, Berkeley, Library (Metuchen, N.J. 1973. 157 p. $5. ISBN 0-8108-0657-6), a listing of 434 significant purchased and gift collections, containing from 500 to 100,000 pieces. Arranged in one alphabet, with numerous see references under subject headings, the guide serves as a directory, a descriptive catalog, and the only central index to most of the Berkeley General Library's special collections. The editor, Audrey E. Phillips, who retired last year after 25 years as a research and reference librarian in the Reference Department of the University of California Library, states in her introduction that a supplement is planned.

Following the impetus created by International Book Year 1972, UNESCO has published Books for All: A Programme of Action to promote world-wide attention to books and reading. The book describes the four broad themes outlined by the UNESCO General Conference—books in the service of education, international understanding and peaceful cooperation; encouragement of authorship and translation, with due regard to copyright; production and distribution of books, including the development of libraries; and the promotion of the reading habit.

Correspondence concerning the Programme of Action should be addressed to the Book Promotion and Development Division, UNESCO, 7 Place de Fontenoy, 75700 Paris, France.

The Johnson Associates Inc., 175 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10010, has available on microfiche the Journal Supplement Abstract Service Catalog of Selected Documents in Psychology. All of the material in this program is included in Psychological Abstracts but has never been published before in any other format. Subscriptions are on an annual basis to institutions; for the year 1974, $325; 1973, $295; 1972, $265; and 1971, $65.

The Illinois State Library, Publications Office, Centennial Building, Springfield, Ill. 62706, has available for 16 cents postage Public Library Abstracts: 1971; Abstracts of Statistics in American Public Library Annual Reports for the Year Ending in 1971, prepared by Herbert Goldhor. Public libraries wishing to have their statistics for 1972 included in the next edition of Public Library Abstracts are encouraged to send a copy to Herbert Goldhor, Graduate School of Library Science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Urbana, Ill. 61801.

Available upon request are copies of Frank Joseph

Shulman's bibliography, American and British Doctoral Dissertations on Israel and Palestine in Modern Times. This work brings together for the first time 530 postwar dissertations dealing in whole or in part with the land of Israel since the early 1800's. Free copies of this bibliography are available from Bonnie M. Davis, Xerox University Microfilms, 300 North Zeeb Rd., Ann Arbor, Mich. 48106.

The UNISIST Handbook for Scientific and Technical Information and Documentation Services in developing countries is being prepared for completion in 1975 by Pauline A. Atherton, School of Library Science, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y. 13210. In carrying out her work, Professor Atherton and the chapter contributors will make use of available material, reviews, systems descriptions, and introductory texts for the field, up-dating them, and adopting the presentation to the needs of information workers in developing countries.

A limited supply of The New Federalism, which reports on a conference examining the possibilities and problems in restructuring American Government, is available from the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 20560. This book constitutes the record of the proceedings held during May with distinguished members in the worlds of politics and scholarship discussing the fundamental subject of Federal-State relations in contemporary America.

Mansell has published a guide to primary source materials, Cambridge South Asian Archive, which includes details of more than 100 films made during the period of British rule in India. The films described in this handlist portray scenes of European and Indian life from the 1920's to the 1940's. Also of interest are 114 tape recordings made for the archive by people connected with the early days of the independence movement. This publication is available from Mansell Information/Publishing Ltd., 3 Bloomsbury Place, London WC1A 2QA, England.

The proceedings of a seminar on "The Changing Role of Directors of University Libraries" are available in 90-minute cassettes for $6.50 payable to the "American Library Association" from Beverly P. Lynch, Executive Secretary, ACRL, 50 East Huron St., Chicago, Ill. 60611. Seven university library directors discuss the implications of the extraordinarily significant article by Arthur M. McAnally and Robert B. Downs, published in College and Research Libraries, Vol. 34, March 1973, pp. 103-125.

Foreign Law Classification Schedule, Class K has been produced by Heinz Peter Mueller, Head Cataloger at the Brigham Young University Law Library, and Adrienne deVergie, Technical Services Specialist at the Tarlton Law Library of the University of Texas. This publication shows how Brigham Young University has solved its problem of classifying materials for which the Library of Congress has not yet fully developed its classification schedules. It is designed to serve as a guide for other libraries that wish to fit their foreign legal materials into the context of LC classification without facing the specter of massive reclassification in the future. A copy of this publication is available for $3 from Heinz Peter Mueller, Brigham Young University Law Library, Provo, Utah 84601.

A Guide to a Microfilm Edition of the Papers of Henry Lewis Stimson in the Yale University Library, edited by Diane Ellen Kaplan, is now available from the Manuscripts and Archives Division, Yale University Library, New Haven, Conn. 06520. The Guide does not include the diaries of Stimson. The microfilm edition of the Stimson papers described in this Guide and produced with assistance from the National Historical Publications Commission is available either in the complete 169-reel set or in individual reels. All inquiries concerning the purchase of the microfilm or the Guide should be directed to the above address.

A 27-page guide to the Lloyd papers (MS. 2001) on microfilm by Gary Arnold has been published by the Maryland Historical Society, 201 West Monument St., Baltimore, Md. 21201. The Lloyd papers offer valuable insights into the early history of Maryland's Eastern Shore and trace the evolution of a major American family. The microfilmed papers, another NHPC project, are now available on 41 reels and may be purchased for $410 per set or $10 per reel. A Guide to the Microfilm Edition of the Lloyd Papers is priced at $1.

Professional Communications: Libraries, published at two-month intervals by the State University of New York, began publication in July "to bring to State University librarians news of developments in the arts and sciences of librarianship as they take place in the University." This periodical is distributed to all librarians within the University, with limited outside circulation. Glyn T. Evans, Director for Library Services in the Office of Academic Programs, is the editor of this serial.

Format for Bibliographic Information Interchange on Magnetic Tape, Ref. No. ISO 2709-1973 (E) has recently been published by the International Standards Organization. The ISO standard is based on the American National Standards Institute standard, Z39.SC2-1971, American National Standard for Bibliographic Information Interchange on Magnetic Tape. Henriette D. Avram, Chief, MARC Development Office, is chairman of Z39.SC2 and was a member of the ISO subcommittee responsible for the information interchange format (see the LC Information Bulletin for October 14, 1971, p. 577). The ISO standard is available from the American National Standards Institute, 1430 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10018 for $3.50 a copy.

Afro-Americana, 1553-1906: Author Catalog of the Library Company of Philadelphia and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, another needed bibliographic tool for early Afro-American history and culture, can be ordered directly from G. K. Hall & Co. 70 Lincoln St., Boston, Mass. 02111, for $35, under its Series Seventy imprint. The more than 17,000 entries of this one-volume work list sources of early and rare books and pamphlets (including newspapers and periodicals), manuscripts, and broadsides. The items, some previously unknown and unlisted elsewhere, are indexed by both title and author.

The Music Library Association has produced the Catalog of Cards for Printed Music, 1953-1972, which for the first time makes available entries for music which were reported to the Library of Congress by cooperating libraries. It supplements the information published during this period in the Library of Congress Catalog–Music and Phonorecords which includes only those entries for music, books about music, and sound recordings for which Library of Congress catalog cards have been issued.

Some 60 drawers of cards submitted by contributing libraries yielded 30,000 unique entries which were edited by Music Library Association volunteers under the direction of Elizabeth Olmstead. The completed work consists of two volumes or about 1,136 pages. It is being published and sold for $80 by Rowman and Littlefield, 81 Adams Dr., Totowa, N.J. 07512.

In 1973, the Library of Congress changed the title of Music and Phonorecords to Music, Books on Music, and Sound Recordings and the scope was enlarged to include entries for this material submitted by certain college and university libraries selected by the Music Library Association's Cataloging and Classification Committee.

The Library of Congress National Referral Center's "Selected List of Information Resources on Population" is reprinted in its entirety in the November 1973 issue (p. 18-19) of EcoSystems, a journal of the environmental sciences published by the Oklahoma Environmental Information and Media Center at the East Central State College, Ada.

New York Regents Report on Academic Libraries

The Division of Library Development, State Education Department, 99 Washington Ave., Albany, N.Y. 12210, has distributed the "Report of the Advisory Committee on Planning for the Academic Libraries of New York State 1973" for study and review. The 22-member committee of administrators, professors, and librarians prepared the report following its study of the needs and requirements of libraries serving post secondary institutions in the State. Currently the report recommendations for planning the integration and utilization of academic resources in the period to 1990 have not been adopted by the Board of Regents.

Pricing Policy Announced by Illinois

The University of Illinois Graduate School of Library Science, Urbana-Champaign, has announced subscription rates for two of its publications; both were formerly free items. Newsletter on Library Research, a quarterly publication begun in 1972, will henceforth cost $2.
